

Video

Philly Valentines 6:59
Scenes from the Italian Market, a street festival, some Philly girls, and a couple of rowdy parades.

Lancashire Love Song 4:11
A salute to Salford and Manchester, with Granddad and kids on the fiddle in repurposed footage (c 1995).

WWII Weekend/Part 1 of 5 8:22
This semi-educational, mostly entertaining video naïvely summarizes the reasons why The War happened.

[Love Song #3 \[XYU\]](#) 0:43
A live reading set to music related to the subject's cadence and theme in this poetry collection promo.

Cali Dreaming Mashup 3:23
Sam Spade gets down with Tom Polhaus while Brigid O'Shaughnessy gets her new bling on in this updated ending.

Come Back From San Francisco 3:02
"It can't be all that pretty" is the line used to get her man back to New York City. She is wrong, though. It is.

Dramatic Ending 4:37
If The Bard were alive today, would he have compared Election 2012 to Agincourt? If so, mayhap t'would goest thus.

Global DeeJays - SFO 8:14
No Petula Clark music is featured in this wild eyed, fast paced and trippy visit to Lower Haight and San Francisco.

A Kick In The Head At The Mob Museum 2:52
Upbeat or just beat up. It's got Lucky and Dino, and illegal vino. It's got goodfellas and many badfellas. It's a quick tour of the Mob Museum in Fabulous-Las-Vegas-Nevada.

Ivory Tower \(Occupy This\) 6:34
Social commentary set to original music and lyrics: We are the People, we got the Power; not The Man sitting in his Ivory Tower.

SunsetAngelenos Mashup 3:47
The birth and death of the Hollywoodland Sign is the backdrop for this under-four-minute reimagined plot summary of Sunset Boulevard.

Modern Day Hustla 5:23
In this original song, the Tsaritsa raps about "tryin' to get that dough" in a tough job market.

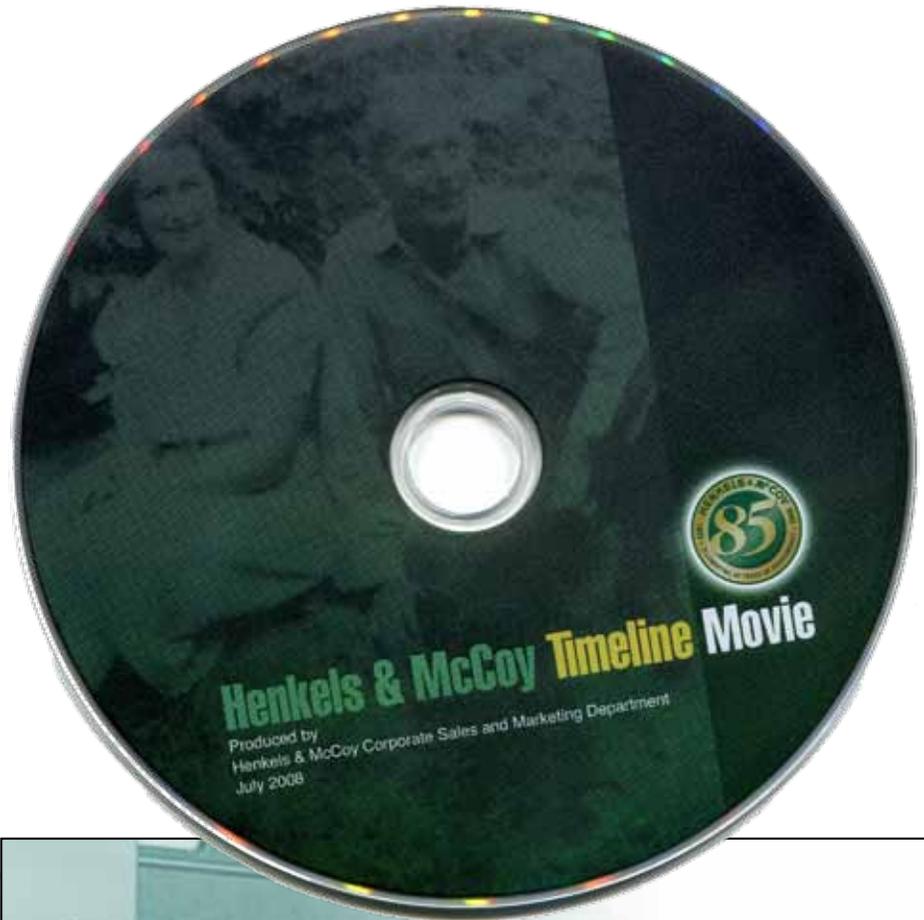

Jim Naughton

NaughtonGraphics@gmail.com

Shown here are two DVDs commemorating very different events within a company's life cycle.

One 18-minute movie celebrates a jubilant corporate milestone, and was mailed to 5,000 employees during an important anniversary year, while, sadly, the other captures the essence of the memorial service of a well-loved and long-serving employee, created for those members of her family in The Netherlands unable to attend, and translates simply as "for Els."

Neither of these videos are available on YouTube.

Video